

A FEAST AT HOME

- After clicking on the "Book Here" link on our page, you'll be taken to the booking checkout.
- When you pick the date you would like A FEAST At Home, you'll then be asked for a few details, such as number of guests that will be attending, house address and the names of guests (for Covid-19 contact tracing purposes). You also get the choice of whether to pay online in full, or alternatively, each guest can pay in person on the night.
- You'll receive a confirmation email summarising your booking and then we'll get to work putting together a great night of food and wine for you.
- The day before your FEAST At Home workshop, we'll send you a quick email just to remind you and we'll also send on a copy of the menu you'll be enjoying.
- On the night, we'll arrive about 45 minutes before the start time to get the table set up and the final prep completed. We'll have everything with us, plates, glasses, cutlery etc. We don't need anything from you except access to a sink, an oven and sometimes a little bit of space in a fridge. Apart from that, we'll have everything we need.
- Weather permitting, we can do the FEAST At Home workshop outdoors so you can enjoy the summer sun. We'll prep, cook and plate everything indoors and bring it out to you.
- You are more than welcome to bring your own wine, beer, spirits, mixers etc. We'll have drink pairings for each course, but if you want to drink your own favourite beverage, feel free to bring it along.
- A FEAST At Home is a 6 course meal experience and will take about 3 hours. If you want, you and your guests can help with cooking and plating up. Through telling you the story behind each element on each dish we'll show you just how incredible Irish food and Irish artisan produce really is.
- We'll clean as we go and at the end of the meal, we'll pack away all our gear and take it home with us, leaving your kitchen and dining room as we found it.
- A couple of days later you'll receive a message confirming we have donated 10% of the total booking to the Irish Cancer Society and the Childhood Cancer Foundation.
- We hope you enjoy your FEAST At Home -
